

Tell Me the Stories of Jesus

Eraser Pass

How to Play:

- Sing through the song Tell Me the Stories of Jesus before introducing your activity.
- Reveal or post the words to your eraser pass game. You can write your words on the whiteboard or simply post the printable included here. Tell the kids they'll need to pay careful attention to the words, because you're going to need their help to cross off the "wrong" words so only the correct words are left! Sing through the song again looking for participating singers.
- Call up 2-3 children to each cross off one word. I like to bring in a super-sized Sharpie as it makes it really fun for the kids to cross off the words – but you can use any type of marker or erase the words if written on a whiteboard.
- Continue singing your way through the song and giving the kids turns to mark off some words from the chart until there is only ONE word left out of each trio of choices.

Extension Activities:

- Have the children sing ONLY the words left up on the chart once you've finished the activity.
- For a harder challenge, have the children SKIP the words from the blanks. You may need a blank word chart to help them stay on track.
