

I Hope They Call Me On a Mission Step Up March

How to Play:

1. At the beginning of primary, start by reviewing both verses of I Hope They Call Me On a Mission.
2. Then, have the kids stand up and get their wiggles out. Have the pianist start to play the song and invite the children to start marching along to the rhythm.
3. Bring out the “Step Up” sign and hold it up. Explain to the children that you hold up the sign, they should take a big giant step by bringing their knees up high and taking a big step.
4. Have the kids practice taking big steps (and laughing when they try)!
5. Then, add in singing! Have the kids sing while they march along to the beat of the song. Surprise the kids by holding the “Step Up” sign.
6. Continue practicing I Hope They Call Me On a Mission and marching along!

Extension Activities:

- Choose some additional actions to replace the march with. Instead of marching, you could jump, shuffle from side to side, or even do jumping jacks!
- Write a variety of different actions on strips of paper and put them in a jar or bowl. During primary, choose an action from the jar to do while you sing!
- Switch it up! Instead of marching, make big steps while you sing. Then, hold up the sign and start marching.
- Choose a few keywords. Whenever you sing those words, hold up the “Step Up” sign!
